The New York Sun is giving John W. Wainwright's name a large amount of free advertising in its editorial columns. The Sun states for all and the Postmaster General's establishment comes in for its full share of the piercing rays.

Dr. DeWitt Tallmage the celebrated Brooklyn preacher is off on a tour through foreign lands. He is accompanied by Mr. Louis Kloppeh, his right hand man and business agent. The Gazette has made arrangements through the American Press Association with Mr. Kloppeh for special correspondence which will be published weekly giving a graphic and connected account of the journey. Mr. Kloppeh is a journalist of unusual ability, and these letters written on the ground cannot fail to be interesting to the readers of the Gazette. The journey taken by Dr. Tallmage and party will be of three months duration. Italy, Greece, Egypt and the Holy Land will be visited. The first letters of the series will appear in the Gazette next week.

The report of the operations of the Post Office Department for the current year, shows that there are now 68,999 post offices in the country, of which 2,684 are filled by appointment of the President. There are 401 free delivery offices with 257 carriers. The increase in the number of pieces of mail matter over the previous year was 4,555,000. The sum received for postage was $9,500,000, an increase of $2,000,000 over last year. From 1862 to 1894, the cost of the free delivery system exceeded the receipts from mail postage. Now the receipts have become so heavy that the First Assistant Postmaster General recommends that the free delivery system be applied to towns having a population of 5000, whose postal receipts reach $8000 per annum. Even if this suggestion be adopted Bristol would not be entitled to the free delivery system, as the yearly receipts here average about $6000. He also suggests that the duty of collecting and distributing the mails by carriers be performed by different persons. Additional suggestions are expected in the forthcoming report of Postmaster General Wainwright.

The first Congress during President Harrison's Administration will assemble at Washington this winter, and people will probably look to The New York Tribune for editorial interpretations of the policy of the Republican party at the National capital. Our reputation column is especially identified with a patriotic Tariff, pious for Union veterans, and various other clauses in the Republican creed; and its endorsement, recently, as the official newspaper of the Republican clubs of the country makes it more than ever the principal National authority of the Republican party. Whatever may be said of The Tribune, every one must concede that the paper is conducted with consummate ability. Its prospects, printed in another column today, shows that it will spend a good deal of money during 1890 for matters that can be read with interest by men of every political faith. The reader is referred to The Tribune's own statement of them for further particulars. Some very eminent and brilliant names appear among its list of contributors. Prices worth $2,440 are to be given away to those who raise clubs of subscribers. Including a free trip to New York and entertainment in the city; and there are a great many new premiums for readers. A 20 page Catalogue has been prepared, which will be sent in return for a 2 cent stamp.

Two hundred and ninety-six buildings in the business centre of Lynn, Mass., the biggest shoe manufacturing town in the world, were totally destroyed by fire on Tuesday. The loss is estimated at $10,000,000. At least 8000 operatives are thrown out of work and 164 families rendered homeless.

The Milford (N. J.) Leader says: "Several counterfeits, said to be Germans, are doing business between Heliottown and Reigelsville. They pass paper money soaked in coffee to make it look pocket-money, and the coin they make in casts of plaster of paris. Their money has been taken at many places, and rejected at others."

Robert Quigley, of Bordentown, was found dead near the track at Lambertton early Sunday morning. The remains were so horribly mangled that it was with difficulty he was identified. It is supposed after attempting a train from Trenton to that city he missed to walk and was struck by a following freight. Quigley was about 26 years of age and leaves a wife and two children.

Johnston & Johnson, large manufacturers of medical specialties in New Brunswick, announce that they will take their establishment elsewhere because they are dissatisfied at the high rate of taxation and with heavy water rents. They have already advertised for an eligible site elsewhere. Bristol would be an excellent place for them to move to. Her facilities include unsurpassed transportation facilities, freedom from local taxation for 10 years, and cheap rents.

Louis P. Dubois, aged 47 years, son of the late Charles E. Dubois, of Doylestown, died at the residence of his mother, Mrs. Mary Dubois, on Monday night, of pleurisy. He was unmarried. Mr. Dubois, beside spending a short time in nearly every State of the Union, visited many foreign countries and for several years was employed in Honolulu, Hawaii Islands. He was employed in recent years on the Pacific Mail steamships, and was on a visit home at the time of his death.

The Post Office will be closed to-day from 10 o'clock A. M. until 7 o'clock P. M.
The Farmers' National Bank and the Bristol Library will remain closed to-day.
Miss Ollie Highland has been assigned a position as adjuster in the U. S. mint, at Philadelphia.
The members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., as a pioneer corps, will participate in the parade at Bristol today.
Rev. W. K. Galt, of Crozer Seminary, will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday, morning and evening.
Fidelity Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will celebrate their 7th anniversary this evening, by a supper and entertainment at Mohican Hall.

The Baptist Sunday School will give their annual entertainment, consisting of recitations, dialogues and tableaux, tomorrow evening.
This is the time of year when the Sunday Schools become crowded. Christmas is in the near future and the children see visions of beautiful gifts.

Michael Keating got the hand-one clock changed off by the Knights of Friendship, to the ticket purchasers to their concert on last Saturday evening.
Council will meet on next Monday evening. It is not anticipated that the deliberations of that body will be as exhilarating as they were at the last meeting.

In order to give the Gazette's employees as much time as possible to enjoy Thanksgiving day, this issue of the Gazette is printed several hours earlier than usual.

The third series of stock in the Merchants & Mechanics Building Association was issued last Tuesday evening. One hundred and thirty shares were taken.

The concert given by the Wm. H. J. Wilson Company, at the Opera House was largely attended, and the entertainment offered was pronounced to be excellent.

Philip Halzall starts on Sunday evening for a trip to the Pacific coast. He will visit San Francisco, Cal., Tacoma, Washington and other growing cities on the western slope.

At the meeting of the Merchants and Mechanics Building Association on Tuesday evening four and a half lots were sold to Rocko Manzio at 20 cents monthly premium.

Thanksgiving services will be held to-day at the Presbyterian church, at 10.45 A. M. At St. James Episcopal church, at 10.30 A. M. and in the Methodist church at 7.30 P. M.

Prof. J. Richard Miller will give a pleasing and bewildering entertainment at the Opera House to-night. His skill in magic is said to be second to none in the land.

List of letters remaining in Bristol Post Office to November 28, 1890: Miss Mary Kendall, W. W. Miles, Mrs. C. M. Price, Miss Mary Raven, Charles Thomas, Elwood Watson.

Rev. Father McElhiney, of St. Mark's church has been transferred to Philadelphia, to St. Ignace church. Rev. Father Vandergrift, of Philadelphia has been appointed to fill his place.

The Telephone Company attempted last week to run their lines along the river front above Franklin street. The property owners objected and several poles that had been planted have been removed.

Miss Eleanor Maule, the second daughter of John Maule, who resides on Washington street, died Wednesday morning after a short illness of typhoid pneumonia. The parents and family have the deepest sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

The Helping Hand Society of the Presbyterian church will give a vocal and instrumental concert, including organ recitals by Miss Laura Wood and Mr. W. G. Buckman, on next Monday evening. There will be no charge for admission, and a general invitation is extended to all to be present.

John C. Stouffer Esq. and Dr. Howard Pursell, the Secretary and Treasurer of the Merchants and Mechanics Building Association gave a supper last Tuesday evening to the directors of the association, at Cottage Hotel. The guests were L. A. Hoguel, Thomas Scott, Charles W. Pierce, Jesse W. Knight, Francis Penmore, S. W. Troff, Joseph Bannister and Ernest Lawrence.

One of the best companies that has appeared at the Bristol Opera House this season was that of the Claire Scott Company, on Tuesday evening last. The play was Theodora, with Miss Scott in the title role. She was well supported and the whole was a powerful and impressive achievement. The play and the company deserved a much better house.

Mr. Daniel A. Kelly, with his own company from his theatre at Baltimore will appear at the Bristol Opera House on Monday evening next, in the sensational and thrilling melodrama entitled "After 7 Years." The Pittsburgh Commercial says: Large and enthusiastic audiences greeted Mr. D. A. Kelly and his company at the Opera House yesterday in "After 7 Years." Mr. Kelly's impersonation of the four different characters, representing four different nationalities, gave a most striking illustration of his superior qualities and great versatility in his special roles. His support was well up to the standard, and met with hearty approval.

The body of John Schaffer was found below Burlington on last Saturday morning by a Burlington gardener named Charles Calkins. Two college boys attracted his attention to the body. Mr. Andrew Schaffer, a brother of the deceased, was notified, and in company with several Bristolians went to Burlington and identified the body. There were no marks found on the remains which would indicate that the man had been murdered. A coroner's jury was summoned and after viewing the body a permit was granted for its removal to Bristol. The funeral took place on Sunday, and the interment made in Beechwood Cemetery, Halmesville. On Tuesday the Coroner's jury returned a verdict of "Found Drowned."

Joseph Silverstone, a son of William Silverstone a Jeweler at 1013 Walnut street, Philadelphia, has been missing since the middle of last October. His father fears that he has been foully dealt with, and he has written to the Barrege, William P. Wright, concerning the bundle of bloody clothes found near Fallstown on Friday. He says that when his son left Philadelphia he took some jewelry and a trunk full of goods to dispose of at the Frederick Fair. He intimates that he means Mt. Holly instead of Frederick by saying that his suspicions were aroused by seeing that the bundle was wrapped in Burlington and Mt. Holly papers. The police here have been notified and will endeavor to find a clue to the mystery.

Mrs. Jane B. Willis died at her late residence on Radcliffe street, at half-past two o'clock, on Monday morning. About six months ago Mrs. Willis had a stroke of paralysis from which she never recovered. She was a woman well-known and well-loved in Bristol. Although almost ninety years of age, she was, until her late illness, in full possession of all her faculties. Her mind was clear and bright and she was always much interested in the doings of the outside world. Mrs. Willis was of a kindly and unobtrusively generous nature, fully carrying out the Bible maxim of not letting the right hand know what the left hand doeth. She leaves three children to mourn her loss—Mrs. Walter Vail, of Newburg, N. Y.; Mrs. John K. Witham, with whom she made her home, and a son, Mr. John Willis, of New York. Funeral services were held at her late residence on Wednesday afternoon. Her remains will be taken to Long Island for interment this morning.

December term of criminal court commences at Doylestown on Monday, the 2nd proximo.
John Manning has remodelled his dwelling at Tullytown. It is much improved in appearance.
Mrs. Sarah Hughes has sold her small farm on the Knight road, in Hyerry, to J. Shab Bacon, for $7000.

Davis & Son, the Tullytown Sausage makers, have a noiseless machine that chops 400 pounds of meat per hour.

The Christian Sunday school of Tullytown under the efficient superintendency of Joseph Wilcox is in a healthy condition.

On Friday a party of gunners, from Bristol, found a bundle near Fallstown that contained two shirts, one of them bloody.

Mr. E. R. Mitchell, of Tullytown, has procured a surveying compass and is ready to wait upon any one in this line at moderate prices.

The Tullytown drug store was closed last Saturday by the owner, Mr. Rapp. Doctor Hunter, the physician in charge, has left the town.

Early to bed and early to rise, mind your business and tell no lies; Don't get drunk and spoil your eyes, pay your debts and advertise.

The farm of George Jackson, deceased, in Bensalem, was put on at public sale on November 4, but not sold. $127 per acre was the highest bid.

The Pennsylvania Railroad station at Morrisville is receiving a thorough overhauling. A new platform is to be built on the freight end of the station.

Miss Kate Newman, of Doylestown, aged 65 years, dropped dead from heart disease while engaged in domestic duties. She lived by herself in rooms in Mrs. Olivia Sheetz's house.

The following resolution was offered and adopted at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Bristol Public Schools on Thursday, November 7th:

Resolved, That we record in the minutes of the Board a notice of the death of Elizabeth S. Bailey, which occurred on the 29th of October. Miss Bailey was a teacher in the public schools of Bristol during a period of 25 years, and always enjoyed the confidence and esteem of her directors. She performed her duties with faithfulness, and devoted herself to her work with patient endeavor and in cheerful spirit. All health impelled her to resign her position at the close of the last school term. We hereby express our appreciation of her long period of faithful service, and our recognition of her earnest desire to act well her part in her useful calling.

Kelly is witty, Nellie is pretty, Little is cute and small; Love is queen, Amette is a pet, Nellie is the belle of the ball; Diantha is wealthy, Josephine is healthy, And health is the best of all. Perfect health keeps her rosy and radiant, beautiful and blooming, sensible and sweet. It is secured by wholesome habits and the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Healthy eating and drinking makes the cake. The only guaranteed cure for these distressing ailments peculiar to women. Satisfaction or your money returned.

ELEANOR KIRK'S GOSSIP.

BROOKLYN, November 25, 1890.
EDITOR GAZETTE:—An enthusiastic correspondent writes as follows: "I am so glad you told me about Joe Jefferson's autobiography commenced in the November Century, and although you had prepared me for something uncommon, I think I was never so surprised, so moved upon spiritually and emotionally, as when I turned to the 16th page. It has made my heart bump ever since."

Another remarkable document to which I would like to call special attention is Bill Nye's account of the success of Woman Suffrage in Wyoming. This paper is unique in every respect. It is sound, it is logical, it is tender, it is manly, it is pathetic, it is side-splittingly funny, and it is truly itself. It ought to be read by every man and woman who through prejudice has not been willing to admit the success of woman's suffrage in this far-away State. This wide-awake and most timely article was published in the New York World of the 10th. Whether there are any of these newspapers left or not I do not know, but I wish this article could be read aloud in every family in the land for it offers the most advanced education on this subject.

And now there are two women sent out by men to circumnavigate the globe. One starts East, the other West, and they expect to lunch together in China. Nellie H. Gyles with a determination to beat Jules Verne's time, and Miss Elizabeth Bisland, of the Cosmopolitan, will try, it is reported, to beat Nellie H. Isn't it comical that these two young women, whose beautiful bloom of innocence would be brushed off by the process of selecting a ballot and depositing it in a box with their husbands' and brothers' political expressions, can be picked out to act as pioneers in an enterprise which has never been attempted save by the imagination of a novelist? Then to think that the World, which has always had its nose turned up whenever woman's suffrage was mentioned, should be the first to inaugurate such a trip! And to think that the best argument ever advanced for woman's suffrage was printed in this—in every other way—entertaining sheet, makes me chuckle when I am alone, and laugh aloud when I have company.

A dramatic paper calls me to task for advocating "dowdiness." What next? "Women cannot be educated to like large waists," says this wise prevaricator. Woman will be obliged sooner or later to like room for the proper play of their internal organs, and acute and chronic suffering will make it the first consideration. "Why do not physicians make a protest against small waists, if it is so harmful to look neat and taut?" my critic further asks. Let me tell you why. Because physicians, for fear of losing good-paying patients, tinker with symptoms, and let causes take care of themselves. Suppose a doctor, after counting the pulse and examining the tongue of some fair invalid, should say—"And now have the kindness to show me how you wear your corsets," and "favor me with a glance at your shoes," and "permit me to test the weight of your petticoats and dress-skirts." That would be eminently practical, the commonest kind of common sense, and if the physician could make an impression on the mind of the patient, she would not be likely to need much medicine. But how much business, I ask my critic, would this doctor be likely to have in this household after such an examination? He would be called a fool, an old fog, a very undignified, coarse, and illiterate individual, and when the front door closed after the first visit it would never again open for him. A dressmaker told me that one of her customers was attacked the other day by a strange numbness in her shoulder, a tingling in her fingers, accompanied by faintness. "Why," said my informant, "I knew that the trouble came from the dress sleeve, which she had forced me to make skin-tight. When the doctor came he ordered the patient undressed, and as he was going out beckoned to me to follow. 'Mum's the word,' he said in a whisper, 'but if you make dress sleeves like that you'll soon have an epidemic of paralysis.'"

Now, this physician was so honest that he had to say something, and so cowardly that he was forced to put the blame on the wrong person. If my readers will only look into the Jennies Miller style of dressing, they will try the gown forms, and the simple, classic and lovely draperies, and the divided skirts, and learn to take proper exercise, give their tired, and in many cases lapped, ribs a chance to get back into place, and their compressed and abused lungs a chance to fill with good air, they will begin to have some comfort in life.

The last and newest and most beautiful novelty in dress is the Australian silk-finish cashmere, manufactured by Priestly & Co. French cashmere was once considered the finest made, but beside the Australian it has very little merit. There is the same sheen and bloom on this material that distinguishes all of the Priestly goods, as well as the same draping characteristics. The fabric is so firm and so soft, that it wears perfectly and will admit of any amount of making over, and the loops never grow limp and stringy as is always the case with the French cashmere. The Australian silk-finish is very wide and not at all expensive. To avoid mistakes, see that the goods are rolled on Priestly & Co. on the salvage every five yards.

I am devoutly thankful to hear such enthusiastic reports from my endorsements of the Glycerine Suppositories. Every single case has proven my words correct, and I wish to thank my friends for letting me know of their relief. One gentleman informs me that he feels as if they had saved his life. Chronic constipation had produced a painful and dangerous inflammatory condition, and he was in constant agony. He threw away his cathartic doses, and commenced the use of these perfectly healthy because entirely unmedicated articles, with the result mentioned above. Medicine is of small use in such cases, and cathartics reduce the strength and intensify the inflammation.

Do you suffer with colds? You can be cured if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla, or great blood purifier. Get it at all druggists.

An Insurance Clerk's Good Fortune. It isn't often that a young clerk sits in his teens has $15,000 placed in his hands to do with as he pleases, and to use as he fancy may dictate; yet this was a little event that occurred last week to Roe Grant, a young man who lives on Vine street with his parents and is employed in the offices of the Hartford Life and Annuity Insurance Company, in this city. Young Grant held one-twentieth of ticket 61,826, which drew the first capital prize of $50,000 in the drawing of the State Lottery Company on the 15th of October. The lucky man was questioned by a newspaper man and he emphatically denied having won the $15,000, but expressed himself as being willing to know such a man. Since the interview with the newspaper man, he has been very busy. He has been asked to give the money; that it was paid to him by the manager of the Adams Express Company in this city, and that two superintendents of the company had been sent to the money was kept there. All the money was kept there. All the money was kept there. All the money was kept there.

There are less persons afflicted with rheumatism since our druggists have sold Salvation Oil.

Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough or common cold in its first stages. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon preys upon the lungs. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup affords instant relief. It is an infallible remedy. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Facts Worth Knowing. In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory could be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powders or sprays, because they are all irritating, do not reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who had for years suffered from all the above named ailments, and in vain, were cured by the use of Dr. Bull's Cream Balm.

Consumption cured with Grapes. This fall destroyer has brought a blight to many a cough or common cold in its first stages. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon preys upon the lungs. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup affords instant relief. It is an infallible remedy. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Do You Wish to Regain Your Health? If you are all broken down and suffering from nervous prostration? I will tell what cured me after suffering for months. I used two bottles of Sulfur Bitters, and now I am a well man.—C. Stiller, Bookkeeper, Canton.

*Not only in the spring time, but all the year round people will need a reliable cathartic. We would recommend Laxador. Price 25 cents.

The real need of a sick baby is not so much medicine as it is something to "assist nature." Many things are recommended, but the best known remedy for the ailments of the young children is Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. Price only 25 cents a bottle.

*AN EMINENT temperance lecturer in New England, Mrs. John Barton, says: "I am surprised how readily sick headaches and also dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, and all the other ailments, are cured when all others remedies failed. Mrs. Barton is the wife of John Barton, Superintendent of Repairs, Pacific Mills, Lawrence, Mass."

Fast Trains to the Pacific Coast. Passengers for San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Oregon, and intermediate points can now leave Chicago at 11.10 P. M. daily, on the Fast Overland Train of the Chicago and North Western Railway, which will stop at Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, St. Joseph, Kansas City, Omaha, Lincoln, and Union Pacific Railways, and arrive at San Francisco in 82 1/2 hours, at Portland, Oregon in 79 1/2 hours, which is the quickest time made across the Continent.

A Complete Establishment. Johnson Brothers, the popular clothiers at the corner of Mill and Wood streets, are now ready for the Fall and Winter trade. They can dress a man from head to toe in the best style and for a small amount of cash. Their Clothing, Hosiery, Caps, Underwear, Hosiery, Shoes and Neckwear, are all of the latest styles and best makes. They have suits from $5 to $20, honest goods and well made. Hats, from 40 cts. to $1.00. Underwear from $1.00 to $3.00 per suit, and shoes, well made, neat, strong and substantial, at various prices. For reliable goods, bought from standard houses, go to Johnson Brothers. They keep no stock on hand upon their premises.

*There will be a sale of household goods at No. 35 Wood street, on Saturday, Nov. 30, at 1 o'clock.

Have you a father? Have you a mother? Have you a son or daughter, sister or brother who has not yet taken Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, the guaranteed remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, and Lung troubles? If so, why, when a simple bottle is gladly given to you free by any druggist, and the large size costs only 50c and $1.00.
